Donation Request

Melissa Munro-Bernard and Mike Bernard have had a 19 year old Holland College student, Amanda from Brazil, living with their family, who has found herself stranded here in Canada due to the pandemic without a place to live or the initial ability to work due to her student visa. Due to the impacts of the pandemic, Amanda's family in Brazil have run into some significant financial challenges in trying to support her here in Canada. If they cannot pay her outstanding fees by Sept 18, she is at risk of being asked to withdraw from school and return to her home country. Please take a read through her story and consider making a small donation towards her education if you are able! Her parents are being faced with the difficult decision of selling their only vehicle and means to get to work as a way to pay her fees and keep her here in Canada. If you can't make a donation to the go fund me page, it would be great if you could share the fundraiser via social media to help spread the word! <https://gf.me/u/ywaagb>

PCC Mission Moment World Literacy Day

In Afghanistan, cultural norms dictate that men often play a more central role in public life, while women and girls have more significant roles in the home. Because of this, many girls do not have equal access to education. Presbyterian World Service & Development (PWS&D), with the support of local partners, has been working to provide girls with access to high quality education. Through summer camps, girls are informed about human rights, gender, sex, and leadership and democracy. Sadaf and Nargi participated in this summer camp, where they were inspired and excited about the great things they could achieve in the future. For the two girls, access to fair and equal education is vital for their goals and dreams; it is also essential to allow their communities to flourish.
