Scam Emails

A number of ministers (myself included) have noticed an increase in scam e-mails involving our names. Lately there have been accounts that are claiming to be me and going by emails like revminister, revamanda etc. asking that you get in touch with me. If people respond they often ask you to pick up gift cards or money. I am concerned by the increased frequency this has been happening, along with the worry that sometimes it is no longer as obvious that it is a scam. If you ever receive an e-mail from me asking you do something for me, pick something up for me or that I "need you to get in touch immediately" etc. do not respond. It is also important that you do not email back or contact the scam e-mailer in any way. You can always phone me directly at my home number 902-894-5382, or the church 902-892-2839 to confirm. Never, ever feel pressured or under a time limit to answer as I will never do that (a lot of scams use a sense of urgency to have you react in ways you may not otherwise). I do not want anyone to ever be taken advantage of and want everyone to be safe.
